1. What this Manual covers

1.1 Contents

This Course Manual covers:

- the policies, procedures and general information
- the Professional Legal Studies Course General Rules, and
- the Professional Legal Studies Course Assessment Rules

applying to the operation of the Professional Legal Studies Course.

1.2 Definitions and interpretation

1.2.1 The Course Manual is referred to as “the Manual”. The Manual must be read as a whole.

1.1.1 College of Law New Zealand Limited is referred to as “the College.”

1.1.2 The Professional Legal Studies Course is the course conducted by the College and is referred to in the Manual and the Rules as “the course” or “Profs.”

1.2.2 Where the context permits, the College includes the management and staff of the College and any other persons authorised by the College to participate in conducting the course, including persons from organisations providing facilities for the course.

1.2.3 The Executive Management Team is a committee of the College. It comprises the Chief Executive Officer, the Chief Academic Officer (New Zealand), the Profs Programme Director, the Education Support Manager, and other College staff appointed from time to time.

1.2.4 The Chief Academic Officer (NZ) is the principal academic officer of the course. The Chief Academic Officer (NZ) is responsible for overseeing the delivery and assessment policies of Profs. The Chief Academic Officer (NZ) is responsible to the Chief Executive, who is responsible to the Board for implementing the decisions of the Board.

1.2.5 Instructor includes full-time and part-time adjunct instructors appointed by the College to teach in the course.

1.2.6 The Professional Legal Studies Course Assessment Rules are the Professional Legal Studies Course Regulations 2004 (consolidated 1 November 2006) (the Regulations) by the New Zealand Council of Legal Education (NZCLE) and are referred to as the “Assessment Rules”. Any reference to the Rules includes a reference to the Assessment Rules.

1.2.7 The Professional Legal Studies Course General Rules are referred as the “General Rules”. Any reference to “the Rules” includes a reference to the General Rules.

- 1.2.8 Any officers, committees or boards of the College authorised or required under the Rules to exercise any authority, duty or responsibility may nominate another officer or committee to exercise that authority, duty or responsibility.

2. The Professional Legal Studies Course

2.1 Admission to the course

Any person who has graduated in law or has fulfilled all requirements entitling them to graduate in law from a New Zealand university is entitled to be admitted to the course.

An overseas law graduate or practitioner may also be admitted to the course where the NZCLE requires them to complete the course.

2.2 Course qualification

The Profs course leads to a New Zealand Qualifications Authority (NZQA) qualification – the New Zealand Certificate in Professional Legal Skills (Level 6).

The purpose of this qualification is to prepare law graduates with practical and professional legal skills to work as a barrister and solicitor in Aotearoa-New Zealand.

In order to obtain the qualification, the Profs course must also meet the requirements of the Regulations, set by the NZCLE.

2.3 Course aims

The course aims are prescribed by the NZCLE through reg 1 of the Professional Legal Studies Course and Assessment Standards Regulations 2002. The aims are to:

- (a) bridge the gap between your academic study of law and its practice
- (b) prepare you for supervised practice
- (c) provide you with skills which, when developed through practice, will equip you to reach the level of professional competence required to represent a client without supervision
- (d) help you to develop a sense of the professional role and responsibilities required of a lawyer as a practitioner and an officer of the court
- (e) prepare you for legal practice in a culturally diverse society and raise in you the awareness of the need to be sensitive to cultural and gender issues, and
- (f) provide a foundation for your lifelong learning of the practice of law and to encourage you to take responsibility for your on-going professional development.

2.4 Course objectives

The course is designed to enable you to develop competency in:

- (a) professional skills, and
- (b) matters of professional conduct – to the level expected of a barrister and solicitor on admission.

The course learning objectives or outcomes are prescribed by Profs Assessment Standards Regulations 2002. Those Regulations provide detail over each skill that is to be developed, and what is to be included in that skill development.

Broadly, the skills to be developed are:

- fact investigation, analysis, and problem-solving
- advocacy
- interviewing and advising clients
- negotiation and mediation
- office and personal management
- writing and drafting
- practical legal research, and
- professional conduct.

2.5 Course subjects

The course is comprised of the following.

Core Practice Areas

Civil Litigation

Transactional Practice

Elective Practice Areas

Corporate Practice

Criminal Practice

Family Practice

In-house Practice

Skills Modules

Office and Personal Management

Fact Investigation, Analysis and Problem-Solving

Professional Conduct

Writing and Drafting

Practical Legal Research

Workshop Skills

Interviewing and Advising

Negotiation and Mediation

Advocacy

The Core Practice Areas, Skills Modules and Workshop Skills are compulsory across all courses. However, you can choose your Elective Practice Area based on your professional interest.

2.6 Course structure

The course is a blend of online distance education and workshop sessions, which may take place online or in person. Information about the different types of courses and course modules can be found on the College website at www.collaw.ac.nz/learnwithus.

2.7 Knowledge of the law

The College assumes that you have, or can acquire, knowledge of the fundamental substantive law in the core subjects and in your chosen elective subject.

No allowance will be made in assignments for inadequate performance on the basis that you did not study the relevant substantive law at law school.

3. Course participation

3.1 College response times

The College sets target turnaround times for the return of feedback and marked work to students. College instructors and staff have the following response time targets:

- Enquiries: phone or email reply within 2 working days.
- Feedback exercises: feedback uploaded to Canvas within 3 working days of the due date.
- Assessment Portfolios: final Portfolio and overall skill assessment results will be available no later than 3 weeks following your course end date.
- Extensions: phone or email reply within 1 working day.

3.2 Rules

The College's requirements in regard to participation are set out in the Assessment Rules, which can be found on Canvas in the Course Information and Orientation subject. The following paragraphs on course attendance and participation must be read subject to the Assessment Rules.

You must fully and actively participate in the course. Your participation may not satisfy the College's requirements, if you:

- are absent from any workshop sessions
- arrive late or depart early at workshop sessions
- do not take part in group discussions or other exercises at workshop sessions or as required
- in the time required, do not complete activities where these are required to be submitted, whether or not such activities are part of your Portfolio for assessment or performance assessment

- do not access online learning resources or undertake exercises even though they are not required to be submitted to your instructor – not doing so may be taken into consideration if it becomes necessary to determine your participation, or
- do not demonstrate your best efforts in participating in the course.

The consequences of not satisfying the participation requirements are fully set out in the Assessment Rules. If you do not have an adequate reason for non-participation, the consequences may include you being withdrawn from the relevant assessment: Reg 4(3).

Computer failure or difficulties will not normally be accepted as an adequate reason for non-participation unless you have logged your issue with the College's technical support team and applied for an extension on this basis. It is your responsibility to notify the College's technical support promptly of any technical problems (in relation to the College system), or to have the problem rectified promptly by yourself (in any other case).

If for any reason, such as illness, you will be absent from a programmed workshop session you must notify the College before the session begins (through the Service Now platform or via email to enquiries@collaw.ac.nz). You must provide the reasons for your absence, including proof (for example, a medical certificate if the absence is due to illness). You will likely need to transfer your workshop to complete this component as a result.

If you cannot complete your work within the timetabled requirements you must notify the College (through the Service Now platform or via email to extensions@collaw.ac.nz), before the work is due to be submitted, giving reasons for your inability to complete your work within the required timeframe.

The Chief Academic Officer (NZ), or a person with delegated authority, will consider these notifications in determining whether you have an adequate reason for an extension to meet these outstanding requirements.

Note: The Regulations stipulate that work commitments are not accepted as an adequate reason for non-participation.

3.3 Workshop dates

Details of your workshop dates are programmed in your course calendar.

Workshops also include preparatory activities, which are to be completed prior to attending a classroom session with your instructor and peers.

Activities during these workshops – including the preparatory activities – include conduct of matters (court appearances), role plays, substantial interaction with other students, group discussions, individual discussions with instructors, and other activities. Your attendance and active participation are required.

Failure to complete preparatory activities at the timetabled dates will result in you needing to transfer the workshop subject to a different date, where you are able to fully participate in all the requirements. This will incur a transfer fee.

3.4 Keeping up to date

You need to plan your coursework and coordinate it with your other commitments.

You should not underestimate the demands that the course will make on your time. You cannot undertake any work or other commitments during the workshops. The College will not alter rosters or change timetables in order to suit individual commitments.

For standard courses you will need to devote approximately 28 hours per week to your course work during the online phases of the course. For full time courses, you will need to devote approximately 38 hours each working week.

Online access to all course content and your course timetable will be available to you through Canvas when you start the course. As the course progresses there may be additions and revisions to content and the timetable. Please keep this in mind, particularly if you are working ahead. You will be notified through Canvas of any substantial change that will affect you. Check with your instructor if you are in any doubt about these matters.

In addition to satisfying participation requirements, you will find that your work with the non-assessable learning resources and practice experiences in Profs will assist you substantially in preparing you for the course assignments. Assignments may be based on the contents of these online learning resources and practice experiences.

4. Assessments

4.1 The Assessment Rules

The Assessment Rules are the Regulations promulgated by the NZCLE. These are on the College website under PLSC Course Regulations.

Information about skills assessments can also be found in the Portfolio Assessments and Course Information subject in Canvas. In addition, each individual subject has specific assessment information in the Assignments information tab of the particular subject.

4.2 Disability and disadvantage

If you require special consideration because you suffer from a disability or impairment which might cause you difficulties in undertaking course work, you must apply in writing to the Education Support Manager through the Service Portal or at enquiries@collaw.ac.nz.

Any pre-existing disability or impairment should have been communicated to the Education Support Manager upon enrolment/commencement of the course. However any other special consideration should be communicated to the Education Support Manager at least 14 days prior to the assignment and/or assessment.

You should include a medical certificate and/or other relevant evidence in your application.

The Education Support Manager will discuss with you, and advise you, of the provision of any special consideration or facilities if they are deemed necessary. Special consideration will be offered only to the extent it is allowed under the Assessment Rules.

4.3 Timetable

Submissions of online activities and assessment Portfolios will be due on the dates and at the times shown in the course calendar.

For skills taught in workshops, you will have preparatory activities that are due on the dates and at the times shown in the course calendar. For workshop skill assessments, and “Meet your supervisor” meetings, the College or your instructor/supervisor will allocate the times of your individual assessments, where appropriate.

The College may alter the timetable and may reschedule assessments for any reason during the course and will notify you of such changes.

In terms of the Profs Regulations, unless granted a formal deferment, you will be graded Not Yet Competent (NYC) for any assessment where you:

- fail to submit an online Portfolio Assessment by its due date, or
- fail to attend or undertake a performance assessment at the scheduled time, or
- arrive late for a scheduled performance (re)assessment, or
- fail to attend or undertake an oral reassessment at the scheduled time.

Failure to submit any other activity by its due date may result in you needing to transfer to another course intake or workshop. This will incur an administration fee. Details can be found in the Section 10, Fees and Charges.

4.4 Illness or misadventure during performance assessment

If you attempt a workshop assessment or “Meet your supervisor” meeting, but claim that your performance was prejudiced by circumstances beyond your control on the day of the assessment, then as provided in the Assessment Rules:

- Where you commenced but did not complete the assessment, you may apply for a deferred assessment by submitting your written application supported by evidence to the Chief Academic Officer (NZ) no later than 7 days after the date of the assessment. The Chief Academic Officer (NZ) may not alter the assessment result, but may permit you to attempt another assessment at a later date.
- You may appeal to the Assessment Review Committee within 21 days of receiving your grade.
- However if you are unwell prior to your assessment, and you elect to proceed with it despite these circumstances, you will be graded on the merits of your performance in that assessment.

You will need to submit a medical certificate and/or other relevant supporting evidence.

Note: The outcomes of a successful appeal include being permitted to undertake the assessment again.

4.5 Absence from a performance assessment

Ordinarily, non-attendance for a workshop assessment, a “Meet your supervisor” meeting, or an oral reassessment at an appointed time will result in an NYC grade.

If through circumstances beyond your control you are unable to attend an assessment or reassessment, you should apply to the Chief Academic Officer (NZ) in writing for a deferment via the Service Portal or extensions@collaw.ac.nz, no later than seven days after the date of the assessment. You will need to submit a medical certificate and/or other relevant supporting evidence. The Chief Academic Officer (NZ) will consider your application and if granted may permit you to attempt another assessment at a later date.

4.6 Lateness in submitting a Portfolio assessment

The Assessment Rules (reg 7) do not permit an online Portfolio assessment that has been submitted after the due date to be marked unless granted a formal deferment. In these circumstances, you must apply to the Chief Academic Officer (NZ) in writing no later than seven days after the date of the assessment. This should be done via the Service Portal or email to extensions@collaw.ac.nz. You will need to submit a medical certificate and/or other relevant supporting evidence. The Chief Academic Officer (NZ) will consider your application. If your application is granted, the Chief Academic Officer (NZ) will permit your Portfolio Assessment to be accepted for marking. If not, the skills for that Portfolio of assessment work will be considered NYC.

4.7 Medical certificates

Medical certificates must specify the severity and duration of the complaint and its effect on your ability to undertake the assessment. A receipt for medical or hospital fees will not be accepted instead of a medical certificate.

4.8 Consequences of being graded Not Yet Competent (NYC)

The Assessment Rules prescribe the rules relating to supplementary and further skills assessments. Generally, these will be offered in a concurrent or subsequent course, but can be held at other times upon payment of the relevant fee.

Workshop skills assessments

If you are graded NYC for one of your workshop assessments, you will be given an opportunity to undertake a “supplementary assessment.” This will take the form of another performance assessment.

If you are graded NYC in your supplementary assessment, you may apply to the Chief Academic Officer (NZ) to complete a “further skills assessment.” You must make this application in writing within 21 days of the end of your course.

If you have done any permitted supplementary or further skills assessments but you retain an NYC grade in a workshop assessment, you may, at the Chief Academic Officer (NZ)'s discretion, enrol in a subsequent course, pay the appropriate fees and undertake the entire course again.

Please refer to Section 10, Fees and Charges for the fees for supplementary assessments and further skills assessments.

Online Portfolio skill assessments

Over the duration of Profs course, you will submit an online Portfolio of work in the three Core Practice Areas (three online Portfolio submissions in total). In each online Portfolio assessment you will be graded on your competence in each of the following skills (called "the online skills"):

- Fact Investigation, Analysis and Problem-Solving
- Practical Legal Research
- Professional Conduct, and
- Writing and Drafting.

You will receive a progress indication after each online Portfolio assessment. However, it is only once you have completed all three online Portfolio assessments that your final grade for each of the online skills is determined.

If your final grade for any of the online skills is NYC after you have completed all three online Portfolio assessments or you have not submitted any Portfolio assessment(s) within the stipulated time (without formal deferment), you will need to undertake a supplementary assessment.

There are two categories of supplementary assessments:

1. Pathway A: this is the standard supplementary assessment process. You will be reassessed in respect to each single skill that you have received an NYC grade for.
2. Pathway B: this supplementary assessment process will be invoked as follows.
 - (a) For courses starting up to ZP2408: where you have not achieved 11 points out of a total of 32 possible points across the four online Portfolio assessments.
 - (b) For ZP2409 courses onward: where you have not achieved 8 points out of a total of 24 possible points across three online Portfolio assessments.

The supplementary assessment process is outlined in the Course Information and Orientation subject on Canvas (see the section "Reassessment information"). You will be required to undertake a standard supplementary assessment in respect of each online skill in which you have received an NYC grade.

The Pathway B supplementary assessment process involves further participatory work in one or more online Portfolio assessments to ensure a level of participation and understanding in the Profs course.

If you do not achieve competency in all online skills as a result of the supplementary assessment process, you may apply to undertake a further skills assessment in a skill or skills. This application must be made to the Chief Academic Officer (NZ) in writing.

If, having done any permitted supplementary or further assessments, you remain with an NYC grade in any online skill(s), you may enrol in a subsequent course, pay the appropriate fees and undertake the entire course again.

Please refer to Section 10, Fees and Charges for the fees for supplementary assessments and further assessments.

Office and Personal Management

You will receive a grade for Office and Personal Management (OPM) based on your performance in the OPM subject in Canvas.

If you receive an NYC grade for this subject, you will be given an opportunity to undertake a “supplementary assessment”. This will take the form of an oral reassessment.

If you are graded NYC in your supplementary assessment, you may apply to the Chief Academic Officer (NZ) to complete a “further skills assessment”. This application must be made in writing within 21 days of the end of your course.

If, having done any permitted supplementary or further skills assessments, you retain an NYC grade in OPM, you may at the discretion of the Chief Academic Officer (NZ) enrol in a subsequent course, pay the appropriate fees and undertake the entire course again.

Please refer to Section 10, Fees and Charges for the fees for supplementary assessments and further skills assessments.

4.9 Return of assessment work

The College returns (via Canvas) online Portfolio assessments that are submitted through Canvas, along with assessment grades and any associated marking forms. We do this after all the assessments in your group are finalised.

Where assessments are recorded, we do not return the recording. However, if you receive an NYC grade, we send the assessor’s feedback and marking sheet to you.

If you receive an NYC grade in any skill, you can get further feedback from the marker before undertaking a supplementary assessment.

The Assessment Rules do not permit re-marking or re-grading of assessed work, including workshop assessment, other than through the appeals processes, as outlined in the Assessment Rules.

4.10 Copied work

Work submitted for assessment must be your own individual work. The Assessment Rules prohibit the submission of copied work (as defined below). Discussion with another student about an assessment while it is in progress is also prohibited, as is receiving information from another student/prior student that contains confidential information, including instructor feedback.

Copied work is widely defined in the Assessment Rules as including:

- (a) work taken from any law firm's precedents, and
- (b) work taken from, or the substance of which is in whole or in part identical to work of, any other trainee, former trainee, or other person – but does not include work taken from a published precedent which is available in hard copy or electronic form.

Confidentiality of assessment information: You should not disclose work that you receive on a confidential basis from your instructor. You also should not receive information on that basis. This includes work of other students/prior students, where that other person has received feedback on their work and adapted their work because of that feedback.

Work submitted in breach of the Assessment Rules is automatically graded NYC. In addition, this will incur additional fees and charges as set out at below in section 10.3.

Lastly, work submitted in breach of the Assessment Rules will be disclosed to the New Zealand Law Society (NZLS) as part of the Certificate of Character process.

4.11 Assessment results and completion

Assessment results are subject to an independent moderation process designed to ensure fairness and consistency in marking. All College moderators are experienced practitioners who are external to the College.

Your results will be accessible via the "Grades" tab on your Canvas Dashboard.

Once you have completed the Profs course, you will receive an NZQA certificate for the New Zealand Certificate in Professional Legal Skills (referred to as your Profs Completion Certificate). This document confirms that you have successfully completed the Professional Legal Studies course which enables you to graduate with an NZQA-accredited New Zealand Certificate in Professional Legal Skills.

The College will email your Profs Completion Certificate to the last known contact email address provided within 3 weeks of the course end date, if you have met all course requirements.

If you need your Profs Completion Certificate earlier than 3 weeks after the course end date, you can request priority processing (refer to Section 10, Fees and Charges). A priority processing request will enable your Profs Completion Certificate to be issued within 5 working days of the course end date, if all course requirements have been met. You must make a request for priority processing to the Education Support Team at least 14 days prior to your course end date.

The College may withhold your Profs Completion Certificate if you owe money to the College or have failed to return any College property.

5. Transfers and withdrawals

5.1 Credit transfer and recognition of prior learning

The NZCLE is the only body with authority to grant exemptions from Profs. You should apply to the NZCLE with any request for recognition of prior learning.

5.2 Transfer between courses

If you apply to transfer to another Profs course, the College will approve that transfer if there is a place available in the course to which you wish to transfer. Transfer fees may apply: see Section 10, Fees and Charges.

5.3 Fees on transfer between courses and modules

You may transfer your enrolment to another course, without any further fee, up to 14 days after the commencement date of the course. Any transfer made after that date will incur a transfer fee. Subsequent transfers will incur a transfer fee.

A transfer fee is also payable if you transfer part of your course (for example, one of your workshops). See Section 10, Fees and Charges.

5.4 Withdrawal

If you wish to withdraw from Profs, you must immediately notify the Chief Academic Officer (NZ) in writing stating the circumstances. This can be achieved through raising an enquiry in the Service Portal or email to enquiries@collaw.ac.nz.

Fees apply to withdrawals. Please refer to the Fees section (section 10),

Withdrawal if you are an international student

We recommend that you obtain legal rights to study in New Zealand prior to enrolling in a course. However, if you have enrolled and Immigration New Zealand has declined your visa application, you will be entitled to a full refund. You must supply proof of this to the College.

5.5 Outstanding for completion

Part of our reporting to the Ministry of Education requires us to disclose any students who have passed their course end date without completing the course.

Students are only allowed a certain period of time where they can be incomplete before the Ministry of Education requires us to withdraw the student. The student must start the course again and pay relevant enrolment fees.

If this situation applies to you, we will be in touch with the relevant dates as they apply to you.

5.6 Re-admission to the College

If you:

- withdraw from the course
- abandon the course
- have been excluded from the course, or
- had your enrolment terminated while on the course

and you wish to be re-admitted, whether in the same or a different course, you must apply and be selected for admission in the same way as persons who have not previously been students of the College. You must pay all fees for the course for which you seek admission.

5.7 Subject credit on transfer or withdrawal

The Regulations (the Assessment Rules) prescribed by the NZCLE do not permit the transfer of credits from course to course.

6. System requirements for the course

6.1 System requirements and internet access

You will need to have access to a computer that has access to the Internet, and you will need an email address.

You will need the following operating system:

- PC: Windows 10 and above
- Mobile devices: Android Tablets/Smartphones with Android OS 8.0 and above
- Apple iMac, Macbook Air/Pro or Mac Mini running OSX 10.10 (Yosemite) and above, and
- Microsoft Word (see section 6.2)

You will also need to ensure that your computer's hardware and software meet the recommended minimum specifications for accessing Canvas, which is 1.5Mbps for download.

You are responsible for any charges levied by your internet service provider for the provision of data associated with your participation in the course.

We emphasise that a reliable data connection is a prerequisite for successful completion of Profs. While the College will help you sort out technical problems, you must understand that the quality of your connection can affect data exchange. The College is unable to accept any responsibility if reliable data connections from a particular location cannot be established and maintained.

If you do not have access to a computer for your use in the course, please get in touch with the Education Support Team (email enquiries@collaw.ac.nz) to discuss how we can support you.

6.2 Browser

Whether joining from a PC or a Mac, you must first make sure your web browser is compatible and supported. Supported web browsers at the time of publication are:

- Google Chrome 127,128
- Mozilla Firefox 128,129
- Apple Safari 17,18 (Mac only)
- Microsoft Edge 127,128 (Windows only)

6.3 Software

You will need Microsoft Word to undertake the course. You can purchase a monthly license from the Microsoft website.

6.4 Speaker, microphone and webcam

Orientation will take place online, and through the course you will also be required to engage with videos and video submissions. You will need the following to ensure you can participate:

- speaker and microphone, and
- webcam.

6.5 Bringing your device and other personal property to onsite

Onsite workshops are paperless, so you will need to bring a device to onsite workshops (if you have opted for onsite workshops), or otherwise download/print the workshop materials in advance. These materials are available on Canvas

If you bring a device to the onsite you are responsible for its security, along with any other personal property you bring to onsite.

6.6 Email access

You must have an email address. The email address you provided at enrolment will be used for course-related purposes. You can verify your email address in Canvas for the purposes of receiving notifications or other communications within Canvas.

The College will give you access to a range of online legal publishing services and resources. Note that access to online libraries is provided to you solely for the purposes of the course. If you elect to take workshops onsite, these may be held at teaching venues hired by the College for that purpose. You must comply with all the requirements of the place at which your onsites are held, in particular those relating to your conduct, to avoid endangering the health, safety or well-being of yourself and other users.

7.2 Occupational safety and health

If you become aware of any hazard or potential hazard at the venues used for the onsites, please report it to College staff who will follow up the matter with the venue itself.

You must report any accidents to College staff so they may be recorded in the Accident Book and investigated.

7.3 Working with your computer

Much of Profs is delivered online. This will involve you spending many hours in front of the computer. Prolonged or improper use of a computer workstation may pose a risk of serious injury.

Remember that some nerve, tendon and muscle disorders may be associated with repetitive activities, improper work environment and incorrect work habits. Some activities related to using the computer may aggravate existing musculoskeletal disorders. Some people are more susceptible than others are to developing these disorders.

If you experience discomfort while working at your computer or afterwards, even at night, contact a doctor as soon as possible. Signs of discomfort might include pain, tenderness, swelling, burning, cramping, stiffness, throbbing, weakness, soreness, tingling and/or numbness in the hands, wrists, arms, shoulders, neck, back, and/or legs.

7.4 Prevention of harassment or discrimination

The College is committed to ensuring that all students and staff are treated fairly and equitably, and that their right to study and work in an environment free of harassment or discrimination is recognised. The College requires all staff and students to respect each other's dignity and to treat each other with courtesy, honesty and sensitivity to their rights.

The College does not allow or condone harassment or discrimination of staff or students by other members of staff, students, or other persons, nor does it allow or condone harassment or discrimination of students by members of staff or other students on the grounds of age, race, gender, political or religious belief. The Chief Academic Officer (NZ) will ensure that this policy is implemented and the College will treat any complaint seriously and sympathetically in appropriate ways, which ensure that complainants and witnesses are not victimised. Complaints will be investigated thoroughly, fairly and confidentially in accordance with the College's complaints policy guidelines.

Disciplinary action may be taken against anyone found to have committed harassment or discrimination on any basis. All students and staff have responsibility to contribute to productive, safe and equitable study in any work environment by avoiding practices that lead to, support or condone harassment or discrimination on any basis.

7.5 Emergency contact/nominated contact person

On enrolment with the College, you would have provided contact details for a person that the College can contact in order to respond to wellbeing and safety matters.

The College will contact this person in the event of an emergency, under the provisions of our Emergency Response Plan, Critical Incidents Policy, or in any other emergency situation that the College deems it necessary to require immediate contact of your nominated person.

In addition, the College will contact your nominated contact in the following situations relevant to your wellbeing and safety:

- where the College believes that disclosure is necessary to prevent or lessen a serious threat to your life or health
